Website Privacy Policy

Thank you for visiting this website, which is owned and operated by Cummins Inc. (“Cummins”). This website privacy policy explains our information practices and the choices you can make about the way your personal information is collected and used through this website. Please see our Terms of Use Policy for additional information about your use of this website.

Information Collection

You may browse many sections of this website without providing any personal information about yourself. However, if you choose to register for one of our promotions or services, ask us a question through our Contact Us link, apply for employment with us, or apply to become an approved supplier, we must necessarily collect certain information from you.

Registration

In order to register on our site, you must complete the registration process by providing personally identifiable information, such as your name, address, email or phone number, as well as information relating to what you would like to receive from us. If you choose to register, you may also be asked to choose a user name and password. Please keep this information secure. If you choose to register, you have the right to unsubscribe at any time but contacting us through one of the contact options provided below (email, letter or telephone).

Ordering

If you place an order through our website, we must obtain information from you relating to the order, including your billing and shipping information, order information and payment information. This information is used for billing purposes and to fill customer orders. The information is used to contact the user to confirm orders or in the event that we have trouble processing your order. Consistent with applicable laws and requirements, we retain order information to better serve you on future purchases, and may use your information to contact you in connection with other Cummins products or services that we believe may be of interest to you, or to ask for your feedback about our customer service. You have the right to unsubscribe at any time.

Employment

If you apply for a job with Cummins through our website, the information collected will include your qualifications for the position, your education, applicable licenses or certifications, prior job history, references, and any other information that you choose to include about yourself. If you are accepted for employment, we will, of course, necessarily collect other relevant information from you and include it with that collected during the application process, and include it in your personnel file. The information that will be collected for purposes of your employment includes your Social Security number. That information and other employee personal information are protected in accordance with Cummins’ internal policies.

Supplier Portal

If you apply to become an approved supplier, the information we collect will include relevant business information, such as the name, contact details, location and products or services offered by your organization, and information relating to pricing, sourcing, and other business practices. We may also request additional information from you, including an on-site audit or additional checking to ensure that our prospective partnership with you will be consistent with Cummins’ business, legal and compliance expectations for our partners. If you become an approved supplier, we will also require other relevant information with respect to our ongoing business relationship, including order history, receivables, financial information and preferences.

With respect to any sections of this site that are restricted to customers or suppliers that have entered a written confidentiality agreement with Cummins, your information is treated as confidential, and is governed by the terms of our agreement with you.

Other

Occasionally, we may invite you to participate in a survey or poll such as providing feedback on our website site content, services, or products. Your responses will be anonymous unless you choose to provide your contact details so that we can provide you with additional information regarding the survey or poll. However, some surveys that we conduct, such as those seeking feedback from customers or suppliers about our services, are not anonymous since we must necessarily contact and collect the data from a specific individual or organization.

For any information that we collect through our sites, Cummins becomes the owner of that data.

Cookies, Web and Mobile Analytics

Like most websites, we use "cookies" on our website to help us serve you better on future visits, and to help us evaluate and improve the content or functions of our site. A cookie is a small text file which is sent by a website, accepted by a web browser and then placed on your hard drive. The information collected from cookies lets us know that you visited our site in the past, and helps you avoid having to re-enter information on each visit in order to use some of our products or services. You can always set your browser to refuse all cookies from this and other websites that you may visit. This will provide you with more control over the acceptance of cookies on your hard drive. However, it is possible that some portions of this website will not function properly or may perform more slowly if you choose to reject cookies. By using our websites and not disabling cookies, you consent to allowing their use for the described purposes.

In addition to “cookies”, we also use “web analytics” for some of our websites. This means that we track the number of users coming to our websites, as well as the types of information that are of interest to users, such as which articles or pages on the site are of the most interest. This information is collected in an anonymous manner, without any linkage to a particular individual. We use this information for market research and improvement purposes since it helps us gain a better understanding of how to best serve our customers and how to provide the most meaningful information and services to them, including the quality of our websites.
Finally, if you download our mobile app, we use mobile analytics to provide you with information that is applicable to your region/location, such as locating a supplier or distributor in your region.

Using and Sharing Information Collected

Cummins may share your information within the Cummins group of companies as well as with third parties that assist us with our websites, such as in providing the products or services that you requested, or for the purposes of improving our marketing or administration. This includes companies that provide analytics to us about use of our website, so that we can evaluate use of our websites and continue to improve our website content.

Our U.S. websites are intended for residents of the U.S. If you happen to live in another country yet use our U.S. websites, any data collected about you with respect to your use of our websites will be transferred to the U.S. As such, please note that there may be different standards that apply to how your data may be used and protected than the standards in place in your country. Nevertheless, Cummins has put in place safeguards to ensure that your data is safeguarded and protected irrespective of the country. This includes obtaining written assurances from third parties assisting Cummins with its website or given access to your data, which require them to adopt standards that ensure an equivalent level of protection for your data as that adopted by Cummins.

Cummins does not share or sell any personal information that you provide to us through our website for any separate use by any third party. However, from time to time, we may provide aggregate (statistical) information about our customers, sales, online traffic patterns and related information to reputable third parties who help us improve our business and services, but these statistics do not include any personally identifying information.

In the event that we sell, assign or transfer all or part of the Cummins business, we may transfer your personal information to the buyer. However, the buyer, assignee, or transferee will be required to safeguard your personal information in a manner that is consistent with the requirements in this Privacy Policy.

U.S.–E.U. Safe Harbor Certification

Cummins Inc. and its U.S. affiliates have certified their compliance with the U.S. Department of Commerce’s U.S.-EU and U.S.-Swiss Safe Harbor Frameworks. As such, Cummins Inc. and its U.S. affiliates have committed to uphold the Safe Harbor requirements and principles that are set forth by the U.S. Department of Commerce with respect to the collection, use, and retention of human resource personal information pertaining to residents of the European Union member countries and Switzerland. The Safe Harbor Principles are: notice, choice, onward transfer, security, data integrity, access, and enforcement. To learn more about the Safe Harbor program, and to view Cummins’ certification, please visit http://www.export.gov/safeharbor/.

If you have questions about Cummins’ Safe Harbor privacy procedures or practices or believe that your information has been mismanaged, you can email us at law.department@cummins.com, or write to us at Cummins Inc., 500 Jackson Street, Columbus, Indiana USA 47201, attention Safe Harbor Certification Program.

Our Sites may contain links to sites operated, controlled and maintained by independent third parties. We do not control the use of information you may provide to such third parties. If you access other sites using the links provided in our Sites, the operators of the third-party sites may collect information from you which will then be used by them in accordance with their own privacy policies; those policies may differ from ours. It is your responsibility to familiarize yourself with such third-parties' privacy policies.

Safeguarding Your Information

Consistent with applicable laws and requirements, Cummins has put in place physical, electronic, and administrative safeguards that are designed to protect your personal information from loss, misuse, alteration, theft, unauthorized access, or unauthorized disclosure. We evaluate these safeguards on an ongoing basis to help minimize risks from new security threats as they become known. However, as is the case with all websites, we unfortunately are not able to guarantee 100% security for data collected through our public websites.

Our Commitment to Children's Privacy

This website is not intended for use by children under the age of thirteen (13). Cummins adheres to the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act and does not knowingly register or otherwise collect personally identifiable information from any child under the age of 13 without the prior verifiable consent of the child's parent or guardian. However, we are allowed to collect personal information from a child for the one-time purpose of responding to an inquiry, answering an email, or seeking Verifiable Parental Consent at the request of the child under the age of 13.

Cummins does not sell or share information obtained from minors with any third parties for their own use. The third parties who may have access are those assisting us with or co-sponsoring our website fulfillments, such as for purposes of filling orders or processing payments. We do not share a child's information with blogs or other sites where the information would be publicly accessible.

If Cummins should inadvertently collect information from a child under the age of 13, we delete that information, except to the extent needed to seek Verifiable Parental Consent from the minor's parent or legal guardian. When Verifiable Parental Consent is obtained, we collect only that personal information from a minor that is relevant to the registration or purchase. We protect the information with security safeguards and confidentiality measures that are commensurate with the sensitivity of the information. Parents or legal guardians have the right to review their child's personal information, delete it, or withdraw permission to allow further collection or use of that information.

Update, Modify or Correct Your Information

Cummins takes reasonable steps to ensure that your personal data is accurate and up-to-date for the purposes for which it was collected. We encourage you to contact us to update or correct your information if it changes or if you believe that any information that we have collected about you is inaccurate. Consistent with legal requirements and limitations, Cummins also permits you to obtain a copy of personal information that we hold about you. To do so, please email us at law.department@cummins.com, or write to us at: Cummins Inc., 500 Jackson Street, Columbus, Indiana USA 47201, attention Legal Department.

Please note that we will likely require additional information from you in order to honor the request, such as to ensure proper authentication or to verify the Cummins Company to which the information was provided.

Right to Unsubscribe
You have the right to unsubscribe from any services that we offer, if you no longer want to participate. To do so, please use our Contact Us link on this site for additional information, or email us at law.department@cummins.com. Please note that if you already have requested products or services when you decide to withdraw consent, there may be a short period of time for us to update your preferences and ensure that we honor your request.

Links to Other Websites

Our website may contain links to other websites that are not owned or operated by Cummins. You should carefully review the privacy policies and practices of other websites, as we cannot control and are not responsible for privacy policies or practices of third-party websites that are not ours. For links to other Cummins websites, please review the privacy statements on those sites as well, as they may differ from those on this website.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

As we continue to provide additional services and as the privacy laws and regulations evolve, it may be necessary to revise or update this Policy. We encourage you to review this Policy from time to time, as you return to our site, so that you are familiar with any changes. Please note that we use personal information in accordance with the privacy policy that was in effect at the time the information was collected.
